ALL HEADED FOR CHICAGO

To Answer Questions Asked By Judge Landis.

Oil Trust's Head Men Dug Out of Hiding Places.

Fine Held Over Them Brings All But Two.

HEARING IN COURT TO-DAY.

Chicago, July 5.—Accompanied by his brother, William Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil Company, will appear before Judge Landis in the United States District Court to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m. Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the company, may also be in court.

The addition of William Rockefeller and the possible addition of Mr. Rogers to the list of representatives of the Standard Oil Company who will be questioned regarding the supposed secrets of the corporation, became known to District Attorney Sims tonight. A telegram announcing that William Rockefeller was on his way to Chicago and that E. H. Rogers had returned from Europe and had no notified that he was wanted in Judge Landis' court, was received from United States Marshal Wm. Henkel of New York. It was then reported that Mr. Rogers had started for Chicago.

All Headed For Chicago.

The telegram received by Mr. Sims follows: "Have just been informed by Mr. Elliot, one of the Standard Oil attorneys, that William Rockefeller will be in Chicago July 6 without a subpoena. He is now en route. Have also learned that H. H. Rogers just arrived on steamer Baltic and will start West at once. Rogers did not go to his Broadway office and there is some doubt about his being in Chicago to-morrow morning.

If both men reach Chicago in time to appear in court all but two of the witnesses for whom the subpoenas were issued will be present. The two exceptions among sixteen sought are H. R. Payne, vice president of the Union Tank Line Company, and W. M. Tifford, treasurer of the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey. Payne, according to Marshal Henkel, on New York, is at the bedside of a sick son, but the New York marshal says that he was unable to learn just where Tifford is in Europe.

Big Names On List.

Aside from William Rockefeller and possibly Rogers, the following are the witnesses who will probably be in court or render themselves liable to charges of contempt:

- John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil Company.
- John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.
- G. H. Pratt, secretary of the same company.
- William P. Howe, assistant treasurer.
- F. C. Barstow, assistant treasurer.
- Charles T. White, assistant secretary.
- J. A. Moffatt, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.
- W. P. Cowan, vice president of the Indiana company.
- G. W. Stahl, secretary and treasurer of the Indiana company.
- H. H. Felton, president of the Union Tank Line Company.
- W. M. Hutchinson, secretary and treasurer of the tank line company.
- Fred A. Wann, former general freight agent of the Chicago and Alton railroad.

Big Fine Held Up.

From these witnesses Judge Landis will obtain information that will guide him in fixing the fines which it is supposed he will impose upon the Indiana corporation, recently found guilty of accepting concessions from the Chicago and Alton railway on shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo.

This is what the court wants to know before he decides whether to impose a maximum fine of $29,000,000 against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana:

What corporation owns the stock of the defendant company?

What capital has this holding company?

What were the earnings of the holding company in 1903 and 1904 and 1905?

Who Owns Tank Lines.

Who owns the Union Tank Line Company?

What payment did the Chicago and Alton railway make for the use of the cars of the Union Tank Line Company during the period covered by the documents on which the oil company was tried and convicted?

How many cars of oil were shipped over all lines from Whiting to St. Louis and East St. Louis?

Why was a rate of ten cents inserted in some of the Chicago and Alton railway's waybills during the time covered by the indictment?

The Standard Oil Company will be represented by Attorneys John S. Miller, Aldred D. Eddy and Moritz Rosenthal.

Detectives Guard John D.

Mr. Rockefeller will be the guest of his son-in-law, Harold P. McCormick, at Bellevue Place and Lake Shore drive. He will be under the protection of the United States and secret service officials who will see to it that he is not molested or annoyed while under the jurisdiction of Judge Landis' court.

While Mr. Rockefeller is on his way to Chicago, while he is here, and while he is returning to his home, he may not be molested or approached by process servers from State courts where his presence as a witness may be desired.

This is a rule which obtains even with the humblest and poorest witnesses summoned by the United States court.

Just as it protects the poorest, it will protect Mr. Rockefeller. Doubtless too, Mr. Rockefeller will be guarded by secret service men at his temporary home in Chicago.

ARE IN CHICAGO.

Two Rockefellers Will Be Ready To Answer Judge Landis' Questions.

Chicago, July 5.—John D. Rockefeller and his brother, William, a director of the Standard Oil Company, are in Chicago to-night ready to appear in the United States District Court before Judge M. K. Landis and be questioned regarding the finances of the corporation.

The two Rockefellers reached Chicago at 4 o'clock this afternoon over the Michigan Central railroad. Their arrival in the city was known only to their attorneys and a few relatives. An automobile was in waiting and no time was lost in getting away from the depot. The oil magnates were driven to the office of Alfred D. Eddy, one of the Standard Oil attorneys. Waiting with Mr. Eddy were the other attorneys who will represent the company in court to-morrow—John S. Miller and Moritz Rosenthal.

The men remained in conference with the attorneys over two hours, then entered the automobile and went to the home of Harold F. McCormick, a son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller.

When asked where the money was he said that part of it was in the suitcase and the rest in a drawer of the chiffonier. Mrs. Carter and her negro maid, Mary Duncan, were also arested.

At the station Runyan said that he had been in the flat since Saturday, laughing at the efforts of the police to locate him. He said he had shaved off his mustache and was letting his beard grow as a disguise.

When questioned about the whereabouts of the balance of the money missing from the bank—the sum lost was said to be more than $36,000—he stated that he had been speculating and had lost heavily and intimated that Mrs. Carter might know something about any money that was missing. Mrs. Carter indignantly denied that she had any of the money and told

Runyan that she had betrayed him to the police because he had not given her money as he had promised.

Got Some of It.

Runyan stated that he had given

Mrs. Carter $15,000, but this she denied. Eddy said he gave her $5,000 Monday and $10,000 this morning. Mrs. Carter said that she gave her $5,000 Monday but that she withdrew it from the bank

this morning and returned to it. It also developed that Runyan gave Mrs. Carter a heavy gold bracelet and a diamond ring Saturday evening. These were valued at $1,000. The bracelet is now in the possession of the police.

Mrs. Carter was closely questioned as to her acquaintance with Runyan.

She said that she first met him on the street. Finally, she said, he agreed to furnish a flat for her and give her $5 a week. The flat was secured and she moved in two weeks ago. After that, she said, she saw little of Runyan until Saturday.

The appointment of Judge Moody to preside in these cases is upon recommendation of counsel for Commonwealth in the prosecution of them. Upon the declaration of Judge Matt Redwine that he would not preside in the cases, the attorneys for the prosecution conferred and recommended to the Governor that he request either Judge Moody, Judge J. S. Botts, of Owen county, or Judge M. C. Saufley, of Lincoln county, to accept a commission to sit in the cases. Judge Moody, whom the Governor named, is a well-known lawyer of this section of the State.

BLAIN, BEST TIP.

Probable Appointee To the City Judgeship.

MAY BE NAMED TO-DAY OR ON MONDAY.

GENERAL COUNCIL WILL BE ANNOUNCED AT SAME TIME.

PAY-ROLLS ARE HELD UP.

The impression seemed to be strengthened yesterday that Randolph Blain will be appointed Police Judge of Louisville. The appointment may come to-day, but if not it is said to be a certainty that it will be made Monday. The information came from Frankfort last night that Mr. Blain had reconsidered his intention not to accept an appointment as Police Judge, and the impression up there was that Mr. Blain had been offered the judgeship and accepted it.

Mr. Blain denied, however, that he had been offered the place.

"The same gentleman who spoke to me about accepting the place of Police Judge some time ago and to whom I said it would be impossible for me to accept now has my other answer," said Mr. Blain last night. "After I told some friends that I could not accept the police judgeship many more of my friends urged me to accept the place. Among these is a gentleman who, I presume, represents the Governor. I told him I would accept the place if it is offered me. I want to say, however, that the place has not been offered to me."

It was also said yesterday that a General Council will be appointed in time to hold a meeting Tuesday night. This means, apparently, that the appointments will come by Monday at the latest.

No Appointments To-day.

"I think I can safely say that there will be no appointments to-morrow, or at least by me," said Mayor Bingham yesterday afternoon. This statement was made after he had given audience to several dozen visitors, among them the Rev. Thomas R. Kendall, pastor of Lander Memorial Methodist Episcopal church; Charles R. Long, former president of the Board of Waterworks; A. Y. Ford, Dr. Lewis S. McMurtry and former Alderman Wallace Embry. He said that he did not think he would be ready to announce his appointments before one day next week, if then, as he did not want to act too hastily.

Mayor Bingham was asked if he had any idea when Gov. Beckham would be ready to name the members of the new General Council, and replied in the negative. When asked whether he and the Governor would hold another conference, he replied that he had no engagement with the Governor.

City Pay-rolls Held Up.

Due to the fact that there is no General Council at present, the city pay-roll for the month of June, amounting to about $10,000, is tied up. Samuel H. Wilhite, City Comptroller, yesterday turned over to Dr. George Allen, clerk of the power board, the pay-rolls of all employees for the month, but they are approved by a General Council, the money can not be paid out to the city employees and others who have been paid by the city.

Gov. Bingham name the members of the new General Council to-day, and they were to have a called meeting to-night, it is not thought likely to do so. The pay-rolls would be allowed at that time. There are of the opinion that the time of the first meeting will be taken up in electing a president, and appointment of committees. Other acts of the organization will be taken care of in the new General Council, in an emergency committee would be named immediately, in order that this committee might go over the pay-rolls on the first meeting night of the new General Council, report them favorably, and have them approved.

LUNG TROUBLE FATAL TO POPULAR YOUNG WOMAN.

Central City, Ky., July 5.—[Special.]—Miss Edna McCall, a young woman, two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. Miller, died this morning after a protracted illness of lung trouble. A year ago she became a resident of Asheville, N. C., with the hope of benefiting her

The deceased was an accomplished musician and very popular. Of a charitable disposition, she gave aid to many, though unknown to most of her friends. The funeral will be held Sunday from St. Martin's church. Interment in Fairmount cemetery.

PAY-ROLLS ARE HELD UP.

The news that the various States and Territories for immigrant labor have been instituted by T. V. Powderly, chief of the division of information, recently established in connection with the Bureau of Immigration, Mr. Powderly has written letters to the Governors of States and Territories, requesting them to furnish him information to aid in the distribution of immigrants. "It strikes, lockouts or other difficulties exist, state fully the cause of the same."

MERCURY CLIMBS TO NINETY-FOUR POINT

HOTTEST DAY OF WHOLE SUMMER WAS YESTERDAY.

SIMILAR CONDITIONS EXPECTED TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW.

LOUISVILLE GETS OFF EASILY.

When the temperature reached 94 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon District 6, Ky., was hot, but not for this summer. The report was hardly necessary, for in most instances it merely confirmed the belief of most people that the afternoon was unusually hot; very hot; indeed, the hottest day of the summer. And when the mercury stood at 93 degrees at 7 o'clock last evening there was another record broken, for at no time this summer has it been so hot at that hour.

But even with it 94 here yesterday, Louisville was better off than Omaha, where the temperature was registered at 95 degrees. In particular, Arizona, the heat was intense and went above the 99 mark. Chicago was hot. St. Paul, Milwaukee, and other Northern summer wealth had a touch of real summer.

And, forsooth, Walsz said that to-day will bring more of the same. "Continued clear and hot," said the weather man in his forecast for to-morrow and the "hot spell" will continue to-morrow. The morning shower is possible but not probable. Nothing could be found on the weather map to indicate that a shower would have been due Louisville within the next few hours, and the clouds of last evening did nothing.

The temperature yesterday ranged from 72 degrees at 6 a. m. to 94 degrees at 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. By 4 p. m. the thermometer dropped to 92 degrees. From 4 o'clock till 7 o'clock, three hours later, it was 96 degrees, and, for the first time this summer the thermometer stood at 93 at 7 o'clock.

The reading yesterday were:

MARY JOHNSTON'S ROMANTIC DRAMA, "THE GODDESS OF REASON."

The departure from romantic fiction to metrical play is in reality not so great as would at first appear, and it is interesting to find in "The Goddess of Reason" the same characteristics that mark all of Miss Johnston's novels; the multiplicity of events, the prodigality of detail that always stamp her work. She ever chooses an historical background, and here she gives vivid pictures of France in the provinces at the momentous period after the death of Mirabeau, when Marat has risen to power. There is solid fact to stand upon, with Miss Johnston's prolific imagination for the high lights.

Yvette, the beautiful "Goddess of Reason," is the picturesque heroine. A daughter of a peasant girl and the Lord of Morbec, she has felt the bitterness of her lot and has espoused the cause of the hungry against the nobles. Before the play opens she has met the Seigneur de Vardes, the nephew of de Morbec, on St. John's eve, in Paimpont Wood—he believing her a dream vision and not knowing her name. Though holding her feeling secret with the bashful purity of a young girl, she has lost heart to him.

The play opens in the garden of Morbec, in Brittany, the morning after the peasant girl has stoned and tried to burn the chateau. Yvette meets de Vardes, and he, learning who she is, asks why anyone with de Vardes blood in her veins should wish to burn the castle. She answers:

"We only wished to make a little light—A little light to let the neighbors know That we were hungry!"

The scene between the two—herd-girl and noble—presages the love affair and its final outcome.

The plot is not very well defined, Miss Johnston's love for detail obscures it. Her pen showers bits of realism, exquisite bits of thought and verse which is spite of beauty divert the reader from the main theme and detract from the unity of the play, even while interesting the story part with many true pictures.

It is in the last act that she drops the trivial and rises to broader lines. It is placed on the banks of the Loire, in full moonlight. A crowd of condemned

THE GODDESS OF REASON. By Mary Johnston. Published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston and New York.

New Kind of Automobile Story.

There is no limit, it would seem, to the variety of the tunes that may be played on the motor key. On the splendid car called the Champion a new air is composed, the engine playing "The March of the Cameron Men," and the story telling of the march of one of that clan through evils many and breathless.

Hugh Cameron a young Englishman of good birth, but bad income, takes all the money he has in the world, a small legacy from an uncle, and builds himself a motor car, which, if successful, will make his fortune. For it has an aeroplane attachment, which makes it as near a bird as anything built to stay on the ground can be. Champion is baptised and a champion it proves both in speed and heart, for the automobile itself tells the story of its own and its master's woes, with all the devoiced blindness of a faithful servant for a kind master.

The car is finished, the secret well kept, the fortune of the master is in the hands of the mechanician. Champion learns from conversation carried on around him many facts concerning his master's past and his hopes for the future. He has been entered for the great Vandervoort cup race for instances. His great and only rival is a cousin Gilbert Barr-Simons, an unprincipled millionaire also with a car of his own invention, yet lacking the one peculiar touch which gives Champion the great advantage.

But a French chauffeur has been helping Hugh and is bribed by the rival to discover all the secret, betray it and his employer. Till the day of the great race he has accomplished nothing. The hundred thrills that the description of that event and its outcome creates must be read in the author's own words. It makes a capital story, full of many sensations—surprise, hope, fear and indignation—for the author has managed to make the car so human that the keenest sympathy is aroused and sustained from the very first page.

After the race various adventures befall the poor car and it seems many times as if it must become a back number and belong only to the junk heap. Repeinted, with a new outside, separated from its beloved master, ill-treated and in a foreign land, its fortunes look black, indeed, when once it is bought by an American, whose daughter has ranked next to his master in the heart of the car, and is taken to England. There along every road its engines sing "The March of the Cameron Men" until a certain bright day comes and fortune smiles on love of both girl and car. The book will make one of the best hammock novels of the season.

The Talking Woman.

Woman in all her little shortcomings is held up to ridicule in this book of monologues by Mrs. Fisk. Exaggeration with a foundation of truth is the prevailing characteristic. That the sketches show a certain power of observation cannot be denied. It is not this affliction and hears that her would-be lover still lives, the Piper sends another bill for arrears and Avis dies. From here on it is all storm and muddle and misunderstanding. The married people of the book are at cross purposes, the unmarried ones assisting the final bringing together of the principles—couple constitutes the "Wingless Victory."

An interesting batch of autograph letters are about to come under the hammer. "I admire many of them in their books, few in their conversation, fewer in their conduct," is Walter Savage Landor's bitter dictum on his contemporaries in literature, contained in a letter to Macready.

In one Charles Dickens is found looking at the world through anything but rose-colored spectacles. He is "wretched to the last degree," he writes to Mrs. Macready, and giving, in a vicious despair, "the finishing dig at Dombey." To Macready himself there is Browning's letter proposing to write a tragedy, which afterward took shape in "Stratford," and was played by Macready and Helen Faucit at Covent Garden.

There is also a letter from David Garrick on the subject of Macbeth, in which he expresses the view that to read the tragedy is the next best thing to saying one's prayers. In a letter to Mrs. Siddons, written after her farewell performance, Mrs. Siddons wrote that her nerves were "still too much affected to write or talk upon the subject."

Brilliant Biography of Richard Hickman Menefee.

Together with Mr. Townsend's presentation of the personality and accomplishment of Richard Hickman Menefee are herein included the diary of this

Yvette says:

"Put thou thine arms about my neck, Yvette, and lay thy head upon thy lover's heart, And lay thine eyes with all thy shadow Now let them bind us with cords they will, The spirit moves unbound, triumphant, Not through the Loire, but through a vaster stream!"

Oh, my heart is grimly great to die! And then to die together, is't not sweet? Not through illness, age, decrepitude, But the armed man is ready for new And thou—"

Yvette says:

"I hear the lark!"

A soldier takes them away into the mist and shadows of the trees, a voice cries "Vive le Republique!" and the scene is a full-length portrait of Menefee from his earliest years at his mother's knees, through his school days at Transylvania, his days of teaching, his early speeches, after one of which Daniel Webster embraced him, and his later numerous political activities.

In its present form "The Goddess of Reason" is not an acting drama, though heroic cutting would make it one. Good as its versification is, one cannot help questioning whether, considering past successes, the material would not have received better handling as a novel. Of course, the main points—period, setting and so forth—offer a highly legitimate theme for tragedy. But with her habit of casting her imaginations in fictional molds, the author has seemed to find the poetic form a little unwieldy. Here the many fine threads which would weave well in a novel are too fine for the stage, or even for the reading drama, where interest must be centered on condensed. However, it is an as a statesman, his power, his integrity, his great ambition and indomitable work are particularly dwelt upon. But not alone with the statesman and politician, the orator whom the author makes the fourth, following Clay, Marshall and Hayes, among the greatest of Kentucky's famous orators—not alone, with this Menefee dedicated to the public service, is his biographer concerned. He sees Menefee also as "the most lovable man in Kentucky," an optimist to whom ill health was a blessing, in that it gave opportunity for study, and, in conclusion, the author adds, in the words of Carlyle's description of Sterling, "a brilliant, human presence distinguished, honorable and lovable, amid the din of common political discussion."

Lord Alfred Douglas is a younger son of the late Marquess of Queensberry, of Queensberry fighting rules fame. At one time he was much mixed up with Oscar Wilde. His father objected and gave Oscar Wilde a thrashing. That which led to the exposure of that perverted genius, his prosecution and imprisonment. After that Lord Alfred Douglas disappeared for some years. A little while ago he published a book of Rabelaisian verses entitled "The Belgian Hare," clever in parts, but unquotable. It would never have been printed in America. Lord Alfred enjoys the advantage of occupying the unassassable position of the man who has no reputation to lose. He can't hurt himself by anything he says or writes. And he can't hurt anybody else.

CINCINNATI, O., July 5.—[Special] The matter of the extension of the meeting came before the Board of Directors of the Latonia Jockey Club, as far as expected, and it was the general verdict that Latonia should ask for a thirty-day extension of the racing.

The petition of the horsemen was presented at the meeting, and it contained the signatures of some 300 horsemen employing in the neighborhood of 1,200 men, that the club ask for an extension in order to allow them to have some place in which they could earn a living.

The other petition, which contained about the same signatures, was sent to the Racing Commission and it requested that body to allow Latonia more racing dates.

The Jockey Club, it is understood, will not forward its petition to the Racing Commission, but will simply ask for an extension. As was stated in yesterday's Courier-Journal, the general opinion of the horsemen is that the extra dates will be allotted to the club. Four of the members of the Commission are in favor of it, and the other four are against it. That comes here. With this majority racing will probably continue all summer. Had Chicago opened Latonia would not have asked for more dates, as then racing here would be a losing venture.

What will probably influence the Commission most in the matter of granting the dates is not the signatures of the people who attend the races here come from Cincinnati. The people around the track comprising the towns of Latonia, Rosedale and Millide are a unit for racing, as are the people of Covington. Latonia is in reality an Ohio track, and it is probable that the horsemen have a better chance for extension than Cincinnati. The horsemen of Cincinnati are not as numerous as those of Cincinnati, and the extension of racing there would be a loss to the horsemen.

It has just been learned that the people back of Latonia early last fall decided to make a stand for an extension. One of the leading back of Cincinnati after their first thirty days were not and ask the Commission for an extension of dates. In fact everything was settled upon even to a promise that there would be no interference.

Details were all gone over and everything looked rosy for a settlement of racing dates. But the horsemen of Cincinnati it would be hard to secure the track, as it had been on the market for some time. When a committee waited upon the owners, Jones and Welch, of New York, it was found that an option on the property had been given to a real estate broker, and that he had not given up his option, as he had recently formed a stock company to cut the track up into building lots.

Trainor J. W. Hall, who trains for C. E. Hamilton and Joe Pugh, was called before the judges after the races and asked to explain the reason that Stone Street, the third race, had not been run. Hall could offer no explanation, and was told by the judges that he should have to run his horses more consistently in the future. Stone Street has been the only one that has been an in-and-out and has been the only horse that was not run consistently. No report was made on the running of "Big Child" Pugh's horses, for they always always run to form.

The poor ride given the Noble entry in the steeplechase called for strenuous action by Judge Hopper, and after questioning both Powers and McClure suspended the two riders and suspended suspension. More riders were taken off by Joe Murphy two years ago at this track.

Steeplechase Jockey Hughes did not get over his Fourth of July intoxication and appeared on the track intoxicated. His badge was taken up and he was told to keep away from the track.

Judge Hopper declares that he will rid the steeplechase game here of any suspicion if he has to set down every jockey riding here.

Mattie Mack Takes Opener.

Marmorean looked to be much the best in the first race and was opened up as a long shot. He was beaten by Sabado, who went down to 8 to 5. Agnes Virginia was a hot tip from the paddock, but for some reason the price went up from 2 to 5. Mattie Mack was the other choice, being well supported around 6 and 7 to 1. A strong tip on Wing Ting forced that one down from 15 to 10. There was no racing with Wing Ting, as he had been running with Sabado. He was a hard horse to catch, and after Agnes Virginia had broken through the barrier several times they finally were away with Marmorean in front and looked over. Mattie Mack was following close behind and in the stretch drew away from Agnes Virginia, who was second, being two lengths in front of John Dillon, who was third. Marmorean showed some speed on account of being crowded against the rail. The others were all sprung out.

Margaret Randolph All Way.

In the second race of the day a bunch of two-year-olds were brought together, of which, despite her quitting riding, Margaret Randolph was made the equal of the favorite, with Sabado, who was a strong tip out on Hester Zorra and that one was well played at 4 and 6 to 1. Sabado caught a little more support than Margaret Randolph did and closed as the favorite at 3 to 1, with Margaret Randolph second, who had a hot tip. Lorraine was a hot tip, but under the heavy play on Margaret Randolph and Sabado the price went up from 4 to 5. Marmorean, however, went up in the lead and stayed there throughout. In all her other races Margaret Randolph had quite a bit of support, but this time she gave her a chance to quit this time and used the whip quite frequently during the run down the stretch. Latonia, however, in a poor position, worked his way through and came strong down the stretch, just nosing out Pleasant View Belle, who also

SIX BOYS IN JAIL AND ONE LIES IN HOSPITAL

ALEX. WILLOUGHBY VICTIM OF FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT.

PRISONERS ASSERT INJURED YOUTH SET UPON THEM.

HOPE HE WILL RECOVER.

As a result of a free-for-all fight participated in by eight young men whose ages range from sixteen to twenty-five years, six of them are in jail, one with a fractured skull and the other is still at large and unknown. The trouble occurred at Seventh and Hill streets Friday night at 10:30 o'clock.

The injured man is Alexander Willooughby, a twenty-year-old, a painter, who lives with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Willooughby, at 105 Eighth street. The boys under arrest are: Cox Yates, William Barnett, Otto Sheely, John Sheely, W. R. Taaffe and Roe Howell. They were presented in Police Court yesterday morning and their cases continued until July 10.

At the hospital yesterday morning, Willooughby refused to discuss the affair, saying that he didn't know how the fight started or who hit him. His injuries consist of a lacerated left ear and a gash at the back of the head, which seem to have been made with a brick or some other hard instrument. On his forehead was a most unusual wound, resulting in the fracture of his skull. The doctors who had the case in charge did not know the cause of the injury.

They state that the injured man's brain has not been injured and do not consider the wound necessary to danger.

The boys arrested for participating in the fight are not averse to discussing the affair. All of them say that Willooughby was attacked and that the man's name is unknown and who made his escape shortly after the trouble began, appearing at the hospital at 10:30 o'clock on the evening of the fight and began looking for trouble. A fight was soon in progress and in the midst of it Willooughby's coat drew a revolver and snapped it three times, but it failed to explode.

At the point all the boys with the exception of Will Taaffe jumped upon Willooughby. All of them deny throwing the brick, but it is agreed that Willooughby had dropped it after his fall. Before the fight he had been to the hospital at 1055 Seventh street, was called to care for the injured man. He made the best examination and found the man's ear was badly wounded and ordered him sent to the City Hospital.

After a visit to the hospital, Mr. Willooughby, his mother and sister of the wounded man, collapsed at their home, and Dr. Wilson worked over them for an hour with restoratives, bringing them back to consciousness.

Painter Injured in Fall.

Tyler Graham, a painter living at West Smith and Main streets, was severely injured when he fell from the roof of John Shuler's house on West First street, that city, yesterday afternoon and sustained injuries that may cause his death. He was working in some way when he became detached from the roof. When he fell he was thrown through the city removing November 1, 1906, a set of platform scales from State street in front of her premises.

The other suit is to recover $25 from the city on account of its declining to deliver to her 325 tons of grain when she had paid $25 for the same on September 1, 1906.

In her complaint Mrs. Johnson, who is the plaintiff through the city removing November 1, 1906, a set of platform scales from State street in front of her premises.

She says the scales were paid for by her son, who is badly wounded and ordered him sent to the City Hospital.

After a visit to the hospital, Mr. Willooughby, his mother and sister of the wounded man, collapsed at their home, and Dr. Wilson worked over them for an hour with restoratives, bringing them back to consciousness.

MR. BARTH DETERMINED TO STOP BATHING IN THE NUDE.

Practice of "Goin' Swimmin'" Off Townhead Island Will Be Stopped Unless Bathers Don Suits.

Former Mayor Paul C. Barth is at the head of the Ohio River Salvage Company, which plans to build and some day is determined to break up the practice of persons bathing in the river at the island in nude condition. Mr. Barth said that boating parties were now continually passing the island in the afternoon and evening, and the spectacle of white persons and negroes bathing without bathing suits had to be stopped. He said that the bathers were not to be stopped, but that they would be permitted to do so, but that there would be no objection, but otherwise no bathing would be permitted on the island.

The former Mayor is a busy man since he has been elected to the office. He was found at his office on Main street most of the day. When seen yesterday he said that he was about getting into the old ways on Main street, for which he had a great liking. He took occasion to say that he found much pleasure in being a mere private citizen and felt that he was a free man once more.
